

CALL FOR ARTICLES

Institute for Cultural Relations Policy* invites you to contribute articles to 'Cultural Relations Review' a monthly e-journal.

Eligibility criteria

Applicants should be students or entry-level professionals of journalism/social studies/international relations studies/political science or related fields. Very good knowledge of English is mandatory and excellent writing skills required.

Intern responsibilities

- Editing/writing articles (in any topic within the cultural relations policy discipline)
- News analysis (current international events regarding cultural relations policy)
- Research (independent studies)

Applying for internships

If you consider applying for an internship at ICRP, you are encouraged to send your application (CV and 300-words test article in English). Your application should specify the proposed period and dates of the internship. You may send one copy of your test article in the form of MS Word file attached to an e-mail to ICRP.

Please note that only shortlisted candidates will be contacted for an interview. Institute for Cultural Relations Policy and its partners offer internships for five weeks. Voluntary internships last five weeks, flexible work-time and are unpaid.

* "As an independent institution, Budapest-based ICRP brings together diplomats, political actors, future decision-makers and young intellectuals. ICRP focuses on global intercultural dialogue and forms of cooperation between intra-cultural entities, aiming to promote the protection of International Human Rights and recognition of cultural diversity and heritage in an interdependent world."

Further information:

E-mail: internship@culturalrelations.org

Web: culturalrelations.org

